SHORTHORNS...

A Centuries-Old Breed with a Space-Age Future!

Shorthorns are not a Johnny-Come-Lately upstart. They have a history marked with many contributions to the great beef producing industries of the world.

The breed is connected with many "firsts" . . .

It was the first improved breed to arrive in the United States.

It's herd book was the first founded in this country.

Polled Shorthorns, a great partner in the Shorthorn family, was the first major beef breed to originate here.

Shorthorns have been responsible for the foundation of more recognized breeds of beef cattle than any other breed in the world.

Let's take a closer look at this great pioneer breed that is enjoying a new wave of popularity in the United States.

The Shorthorn originated in the northeast of England during the early 1600's in the counties of Durham, Northumberland and Yorkshire. Before the breed was established, the animals were variously referred to as Durham, Teeswater, Yorkshire and Holderness. Even after their establishment as a recognized breed, these names, especially Durham, were commonly used.

In 1783 Shorthorns were imported to Virginia becoming the first improved cattle breed to arrive in the New World. They were the only improved breed on these shores until 1817 . . . 34 years later.

Two years after their arrival in Virginia, they crossed the Blue Ridge Mountains into Kentucky from whence they branched out first to Ohio and then in all directions, to supply a new world with a profitable, adaptable, all-purpose, universal type that fitted exactly the needs of America's fast growing agricultural economy. They moved into the West to lay the foundation for the most extensive beef production ever known in any country.

Few cattle enthusiasts realize how many breeds owe part of their foundation to Shorthorn blood. According to the publication "European Breeds of Cattle" by the Food and Agricultural Organization of the United Nations, over 30 breeds of cattle in Europe, United States, Australia and New Zealand, owe their parentage to Shorthorns. This does not include the many other breeds with strong infusions of Shorthorn blood in Asia, Africa and South America.

For centuries Shorthorns have quality marked their progeny infusing their daughters with more milking, quicker cycling, easier calving and fine foraging traits. In addition, they have infused fast and economical gains, grading and cutting ability into the most docile, easily handled beef animal in the world!

Excerpts from American Shorthorn Herd Book, 125th Jubilee Issue

Promotion of our breed is Important . . .

The attractive sign below was designed and made by young Bob O'Bradovich. Why don't YOU plan an appealing mobile or stationary sign to advertise your farm and Shorthorns this year!

Birth Date: April 12, 1956; Weight: 1,230, 10-11-71
Height at Withers: 51 1-2"

1. Has produced and raised 15 single birth calves for a record of 100 percent in conception, calf drop, and weaned calves.
2. All classified produce are AA (3 AA daughters in herd.)
3. Has never had an ailment, or received any type of medication.
4. Walks on perfect feet at 16 1-2 which have never been trimmed.
5. Has never weaned a bull calf under 500 ponuds at 180 days without a creep.

We have paid Old Rosewood Mary a just tribute and in so doing have given you an idea of what our herd contains genetically. Small wonder why this herd has enjoyed a vigorous demand for seed stock, and the sincere praises of astute cattlemen.
